HIGH COURT COULD UPSET FAUBUS PLAN

Air Enthusiasts On Visit Here

Approximately 200 flying enthusiasts will come to Murray today as the Murray JayCees are hosts to the Eighth Annual Kentucky Air Tour.

The large group will land at Mayfield late today and will be brought to Murray by automobile. They will be taken to Woods Hall where they will be registered and assigned rooms for the night.

Varied entertainment has been planned for the members of the tour including a buffet dinner and use of the college pool.

Tomorrow morning the group will be served breakfast and taken by automobile to Mayfield where they will resume their tour. The next stops will be Bowling Green and Middlesboro. While in Murray the members of the tour will be presented with a "grab-bag" by the Murray Chamber of Commerce. The bag will contain items contributed by various merchants such as key rings, plastic coin purses, popcorn, and a copy of the daily Ledger and Times.

The tour is composed of approximately 75 airplanes carrying the 200 members of the tour. Twelve states will be represented in the tour.

The Kentucky Air Tour is sponsored annually by the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce and Standard Oil Company of Kentucky.

The tour is described as one of the fastest growing tourist promotion ideas in the history of the JayCees. The idea was begun eight years ago.

John Kasper To Make Talk Today

LOUISVILLE (UPI)—John Kasper, segregationist recently released from federal prison where he spent eight months for contempt of court, planned to speak here today at a meeting which he called the "National States Rights Party."

Kasper, still at odds with two courts in Tennessee, said Friday night he thought "Tennessee should thank God for Lee Foster."

Foster was arrested in Knoxville Friday for picketing a theater showing the movie, "Kings Go Forth," which deals with the daughter of an interracial marriage.

Foster was charged with disorderly conduct by Chief of Police Joe Kimsley, who said "We have a peaceful town and want to keep it that way."

Kasper said Foster was "doing a good job of calling attention to the efforts of Jewish Communists in Hollywood for making devilish use of films to spread race-mixing poison."

Kasper said he would speak today to the party, which he said was formed while he was in prison. He said he would tell the group of the "need for unrelenting pressure to gain expulsion of Negroes and Jews from the economic life of America."

DANCER WEDS OILMAN—Wealthy Texas oilman Bill Moss, 35, and dancer-actress Ann Miller, 35, are shown after their marriage at the Union Congregational Church in La Jolla, Calif. It was the second marriage for Miss Miller and Moss. A number of movie celebrities attended the wedding ceremony, including Fred MacMurray, Ginger Rogers and Linda Darnell.

American Education Program Greatest In The World, Woods

"The program of education in the United States has done more than any other educational system," Dr. Ralph Woods told the Murray Rotary Club Thursday at noon.

The system does have its weaknesses, he continued, however it still is the best system to produce a well rounded, free thinking individual.

Dr. Woods reminded the club that all fifteen of the scientists who developed the missiles of the United States, were products of the public school system of America. Fourteen of them were educated in the United States and one in New Zealand.

"Our program does more for the individual and society as a whole," he said.

Kentucky stands well in the nation as far as science subjects are concerned, he told the Rotarians. The following table of statistics gives some idea as to where the state stands in relation to other schools as far as subjects offered, he said.

Subject U.S. Ky.
Gen. Science 85.3 88.4
Biology 90.3 93.0
Chemistry 69.0 66.4
Physics 56.8 39.1

Dr. Woods pointed out that although in some cases Kentucky schools fall below the national average, that most of the larger schools do offer the subjects listed above, and that the pupil census has risen in these schools from 4,918 in 1950 to 32,585 in 1955. The census in 1960 will reach 51,000, he continued.

Dr. Woods made brief comments on the educational system of higher learning in the state. Dr. Woods said and the pupils listed above, therefore a greater number of students have access to the subjects.

Today there are 40 institutions of higher learning in the state, Dr. Woods said. The pupils listed above, therefore a greater number of students have access to the subjects.

The United Press International count at 8:30 a.m. e.d.t. showed 19 persons killed in traffic accidents, two persons drowned, one plane crash death and five deaths in other mishaps for a total of 27.

Florida led the nation in traffic deaths with four. Ohio reported three and Illinois and Texas each had two.

Illinois topped the nation in total deaths, however, as four persons burned to death in an early morning fire at Round Lake Beach about 45 miles northwest of Chicago to bring the state total death toll to six.

Good Weather Forecast
Safety officials expressed fear that generally good weather throughout the nation would contribute to the death toll. Although scattered showers were expected in widely scattered points and cloudy skies were expected over much of the nation's midsection, fair and warm was the rule.

Many states called on the National Guard to reinforce state and local law enforcement officials.

Firemen Called To Home Of Dr. Tuttle

Firemen were called to the home of Dr. Charles L. Tuttle, 808 South 13th Street, last night about 9:30.

Apparently the motor of the freezer became overheated and caught fire. The wall behind the freezer was also burned slightly.

Mrs. Tuttle and three boys were home at the time. The fire was extinguished with little difficulty, however some damage was done to the freezer and some smoke damage was incurred.

Local Team Will Meet Clinton Squad

A baseball team composed of some of the most colorful players to be produced in the Murray area have accepted a challenge to play the equally tough Clinton, Ky. entry of the Dixie League at Clinton on Labor Day, Sept. 1.

Bill Nail, formally the center-fielder for the Clinton Greyhounds some 20 years ago, accepted this challenge from Obert Bushart, manager of the Greyhounds.

Nail has called together such an array of talent to throw against the Greyhounds that he has been notified by Clinton officials that the largest baseball crowd in the past ten years is expected to view the contest.

Tommy Wells will headline the star-studded cast and be supported by such current and former baseball greats as Joe Brewer, Dale Alexander, Tommy McClure, Bob Billington, Don Pugh and Nelson Shroat.

The Clinton club boasts a 14-3 record in the tough Dixie League and feature two top pitchers in Jerry Featherstone, who has dropped only two games this year, and Jerry Bohm who has suffered only one loss.

Game time will be 2:15 Sept. 1 at the Clinton baseball park located just behind the Central School.

MOTHER'S CLUB
The Faxon Mother's Club will meet on Wednesday September 3 at 1:30 in the lunch room of the school. Members are urged to attend this meeting.

Labor Day Death Toll Is Mounting

The nation's death toll began to mount in the early holiday hours today as millions of Americans took to the highway.

The National Safety Council, however, said early reports "looked hopeful" and there was a possibility "however slight" that the toll would not reach the predicted 420 deaths for the three-day period.

The United Press International count at 8:30 a.m. e.d.t. showed 19 persons killed in traffic accidents, two persons drowned, one plane crash death and five deaths in other mishaps for a total of 27.

Florida led the nation in traffic deaths with four. Ohio reported three and Illinois and Texas each had two.

Little Rock School Board Urges Leave Stay In Effect

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Legal observers said today the U.S. Supreme Court could move to vacate and decisively to upset any maneuver in Little Rock, Ark., aimed at reopening Central High School on a segregated basis before the court's Sept. 11 hearing.

They pointed out that it would take only one brief order from the high court to wipe the slate clean of all appeals, delays and stays granted by lower courts. The effect of such an order would be to reinstate the original court ruling requiring integration at Central High, regardless of when it opens.

At the conclusion of its hearing Thursday, the Supreme Court went along with the plea of the Little Rock School Board to leave in effect, for the time being, the order issued by the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals temporarily suspending integration at Central High.

Final Decision Due
Chief Justice Earl Warren emphasized in Thursday's order that the high court let the suspension stand until its Sept. 11 hearing because it was "advised" that Little Rock schools would not open until Sept. 15. The Supreme Court evidently planned to issue its final decision Sept. 11 or 12.

If the circumstances on which the court based its action should change—as they would change if Central High School were to open on Sept. 8 instead of Sept. 15—the court would have abundant precedent for making an about change in its own stand.

The Supreme Court justices are fully aware of the new stories from Little Rock reporting that Gov. Orval E. Faubus is withholding his signature to a bill to set Central's opening date on Sept. 15. They know that the Little Rock School Board will meet Monday night to decide whether it should act on its own authority to set the opening date on Sept. 15—or leave it at Sept. 8.

Authoritative sources, meanwhile, expressed confidence that the board would postpone the opening until the 15th to keep on the right side of the court.

Faubus Not Surprised
This view was shared by sources in Little Rock. Told of the expected delay, Faubus said: "I'm not surprised. It's about what I expected. I will leave it to the people to judge the attitude of the school board on this issue by their actions."

Dispatches from Little Rock report a popular belief there that the school board could "out-fox" the Supreme Court and open Central as an all-white school before the Sept. 11 hearing. This, coupled with a proposed law forbidding student transfers between schools.

Most Lakes Show
Improvement
FRANKFORT (UPI)—Recent cool nights and falling water temperatures have produced good catches at most of Kentucky's major lakes, the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reported Thursday.

Kentucky Lake reports fine strings of striped bass and crappie taken below the dam. The strippers have been caught in the swift water by casting spinners into schools of shad.

Largemouth bass are rated the best bet in Kentucky Lake itself but few fishermen are trying for them. Bass are being taken on surface lures and medium running lures.

Dale Hollow offers fair catches of black bass on surface lures. Crappie catches are rated good at Herrington Lake.

after opening day, would supposedly present the Supreme Court with what lawyers call a "fait accompli"—an accomplished fact.

But veteran observers of the court find it extremely difficult to conceive of the justices sitting idly by while the fact is accomplished.

In an emergency the Supreme Court can move with remarkable speed. And the justices are inclined to view as an emergency any maneuvers that would make the highest court of the land look ridiculous.

Communists Pound Quemoy All Week

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—The Communist guns which have killed or wounded 695 soldiers this week pounded the Quemoy Islands again today despite typhoon weather which halted sea and air action in the Formosa Strait.

The Red shore batteries zeroed-in key targets on the tiny island. Quemoy, however, making it possible for them to fire without a visual observation through the torrential rains which blanketed the area.

A four-hour barrage before dawn dropped 800 high-explosive shells on big Quemoy Island. There were no report of casualties or damage.

The Defense Ministry said Chinese Nationalists count five Friday destroyed "many" Communist military positions on the Westow Peninsula, seven miles northeast of Quemoy, where the Reds have mounted some of their biggest guns.

The Nationalist barrage destroyed two guns in one emplacement and set fire elsewhere which burned for more than 30 minutes, the ministry said.

U.S. Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker arrived today to confer with President Chiang Kai-shek and other Nationalist leaders on the Quemoy bombardment, which the Nationalists believe is a preliminary to an invasion attempt. He meets Chiang Sunday.

"I am anxious to be here at this time because of the U.S. interest in Nationalist China," Brucker told newsmen at the airport.

United States is committed to defend Formosa and the nearby Pescadore Islands against Communist attack, but he never said whether it would also be willing to defend the Quemoy and the Matsus, at the other end of the Nationalist outpost line.

Nationalist Adm. Liang Shu Chao reported early today that Reds are moving a "large number" of Russian-made high-speed torpedo boats toward the Formosa Strait, posing a possible threat to the Matsus.

The Defense Ministry said the Communists had hurled 130,000 shells at the Quemoy in the past seven days. Seven thousand shells were dropped on tiny Tatan and Erhan islands in the Quemoy group, which are regarded as the probable primary targets of any Red invasion attempt.

Minor Clark Wildlife Commissioner

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Minor E. Clark, acting commissioner of the D. department of Fish and Wildlife Resources for the past two months, Monday was named commissioner by the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission in regular quarterly meeting. Clark succeeds Earl Wallace, who has been on a leave due to an illness. Wallace was appointed editorial advisor to the Department.

Clark has been head of the Fisheries Division of the Department since 1940 except for three years spent in the Navy. He did graduate work at Western College and the University of Kentucky where he studied ichthyology and research work in fisheries. He came to the Department in 1937 as chief biologist in fisheries. During his service in the Navy he was attached to the general headquarters staff as chief fisheries officer.

Named by Clark as administrative assistant was J. T. Cox, Lawrenceburg, who has been assistant director of Fisheries for six years and recently has been acting director of that division. Cox has been in charge of the farm pond stocking program for the past 12 years.

Headed the Division of Fisheries is Bernard Carter, assistant director of Fisheries and chief biologist in charge of the Dingell-Johnson program. Carter has been with the Department for nine years.

Other action of the Commission included the setting of the waterfowl season for the Ballard County Waterfowl Management Refuge. Hunting will be on the same area that was hunted last year and the season will open on November 20 and continue through January 3. Shooting hours are from 1/2 hour before sunrise until 12 o'clock noon, Central Standard Time. The same limits will apply to the Ballard County area as to other parts of the state.

First action of the Commission was the election of Roscoe Davis, Hazard, as chairman; Dr. James Salato, Columbia, vice chairman, and Noble Lanier, Franklin, secretary. One new commissioner, from the Eighth District, Charles Bruce of Greenup, was sworn in and Mr. Lanier, who was reappointed to a four year term, also took the oath of office.

The Commission went on record as favoring the land acquisition policy of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the U.S. Corps of Engineers at the site of Lake Barkley. Also, a resolution was passed to authorize conservation officers to supervise the taking of rough fish from overflow lakes or backwaters in areas which become flooded.

Another resolution would bar the use of the headquarters building at the Game Farm by groups other than those meetings pertinent to fish and game activities. The Commission approved a project to trap deer from the Mammoth Cave area to be transplanted to other areas in Kentucky. The program is expected to be started about October 1.

The Commission also approved the building of an $8,000 dam on the grounds of the Boyle County Sportsmen's Club near Danyville.

Minneapolis After Big League Franchise

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—City fathers today were expected to approve a nine-million dollar bond issue proposal to keep the current Washington Senators — Minneapolis baseball flirtation from cooling off.

About half the money would be used to nearly double the seating capacity of the newly constructed Municipal Stadium. Councilman Kent B. Youngdahl said "speedy action today by the City Council and Board of Estimates could mean signing of a contract between the Senators and the city's Metropolitan Area."

Bob Friend Is "Friend Indeed" As Pirates Dream Of Pennant

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

Bob Friend may be a "friend indeed" to these die-hard Pittsburgh Pirates as they dream of a miracle pennant, but right now he's just about the Milwaukee Braves' worst enemy.

If any pitcher can lead the Pirates to a near-sweep in their showdown with the Braves—six games in the next nine days—it has to be Friend, now at the peak of his career with 18 victories. His 3-2 clutch triumph Friday night at Milwaukee was his fourth over the Braves this year.

That's a "brave-killer" record topped only by Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, who has whipped Milwaukee five times, and pinpoints Friend as Pirates' man of the hour.

Pirate Manager Danny Murtagh, who calls these games "the key to the pennant race," is figuring Friend for one more start against Milwaukee, a bulky Bob always is available for clutch relief, too. Murtagh knows that his club — 6 1/2 games behind after Friday night's win — must come mighty close to sweeping the six games to stay in contention.

His Best Season

Friend hit a personal high with his latest victory, topping his 17 wins of 1956, and now seems certain to become the Pirates' first 20-game winner since Murray Dickson in 1952.

Bob's new-found ability to beat the Braves (his lifetime record is only 17-14 against them) made him a victor over Warren Spahn for the second time in three games this year. Solo homers by Dick Stuart in the first inning and Bob Skinner in the fourth gave Pittsburgh a 2-0 lead. After Milwaukee got one run in the fourth as Hank Aaron scored from third on Frank Torre's forerun groundout, the Pirates bagged what proved to be the winning run in the seventh when Frank Thomas scooted home from third as Hank Folles grounded out.

Friend failed to finish when Ed Mathews opened the Braves' ninth with his 25th homer and Aaron followed with his fourth hit, a single. But reliever Don Gross ended the game by getting Wes Covington to hit into a double play and Torre to ground out.

In other Friday games, all at night, St. Louis downed the Chicago Cubs, 7-5; Cincinnati nipped Philadelphia, 5-4; and Lee-Angeles drubbed San Francisco, 4-1, in the National League; while in the American League, Pedro Ramos of Washington shut out the New York Yankees, 3-0; Chicago's Dick Donovan blanked Detroit, 3-0; Boston downed Baltimore, 4-2; and Kansas City outslugged Cleveland, 8-7.

Wally Moon drove in three runs with a homer and triple to pace the Cards' win over the Cubs.

Purkey Gets 15th
Bob Purkey gained his 15th win for the Redlegs, giving up eight hits including Alex Grammas' homer. The Redlegs scored four times in the fifth inning to win the game.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers stopped the Giants on five hits and also doubled home one of the L. A. runs. A two-run homer by Carl Furillo and a bases-empty blast by Don Zimmer led his support.

Ramos set the Yankees down on six hits to notch his 12th win.

At Chicago, Donovan fanned five in gaining his eighth victory in the last 10 decisions and ninth complete game in the last 12 starts.

Pete Daley drove in four of the Red Sox' five runs at Boston with a three-run homer and a triple.

Harry Chitt's three-run triple led the A's 12-hit attack against Cleveland. Minnie Minoso and Tony Jackson homered for the Indians.

Charles Takes Step On Comeback Trail

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles was one step further along his "serious" comeback trail today after deciding Johnny Harper of Steubenville, Ohio, in a slow-moving bout here.

The 37-year-old Charles, who had trimmed down from a pudgy 234 last January, to 198 at weigh-in time, was given a unanimous decision in the 10-round bout at East-West Stadium Thursday night.

The former champion did most of the leading throughout the bout, scoring well to the body. He opened a deep cut over Harper's left eye in the third round and the wound bled freely throughout the remainder of the fight.

Charles, who lost the heavyweight championship to Jersey Joe Walcott in 1951, made his last major comeback effort in 1954. The trail he is a dead-end when a heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano decided him in their first title fight and knocked him out in their second one.

It was the eighth loss in 15 bouts for Harper, 25, a former U.S. amateur heavyweight champion.

Albert Thomas of Australia, who set the pace for Elliott's bustling 3:44.4 mile (1.618) Ireland Aug. 8, performed the same task Thursday.

RECORDS in REVIEW

By DR. CHARLES FARMER

An exciting recording of "Apalachian Spring" by Aaron Copland, a work whose colorful effects, vital jazz rhythms, percussive attacks of stinging brass and booming tympani makes a showpiece for your Hi-Fi, comes to us from Westminster.

"Ballet for Martha"—Graham that is—and was written in honor of Miss Graham and her dance group who first performed it. The National Symphony under Howard Mitchell gives a vital reading of the modern, jazz percussion scores including "Billy the Kid," "El Salome," "Mexico" and "Fandango" all by Copland. "Fandango" is a glider strength and is played with power in an anticipatory answering of brass with booming percussion.

In these days of adult western, side two of this recording should be a real big for Copland's "Billy the Kid" is the western story of "High Noon" variety put to music—all the spacious loneliness of the desert, frontier danger—the deadly stalking suspense before the killer is gunned down. "El Salome," popular favorite, winds up this Copland concert, which represents some of the most sensational Hi-Fi recording yet to stimulate the speaker of this reviewer responsive.

Seventeen selections from the soundtrack of "South Pacific" as produced by 20th Century Fox is on a "new orthophonic" RCA high fidelity recording just released, and timed well with the recent release of the film. This album gives some continuity of the show and preserves the music and songs of this, perhaps the greatest musical of our generation, as they are sung in the picture.

There is, as a result, an extra projection of the dramatic, which makes the music come to life more than in regular studio recording, since greater freedom is taken. The orchestra, directed by Alfred Newman on the fabulous Hollywood sound stages, has big sound — and the intimacy used for close-up shots is also here. Giorgio Tozzi, whose powerful, rolling, man-size voice provides the singing for Rossano Brazzi as Emile de Boccage, is outstanding in "Some Enchanted Evening" and "This Nearly Was Mine." If you have seen the movie, the stage production, you will not want to miss this opportunity to relive the scenes and recall the "exciting impact through this recorded document of the high point of show business in these fabulous efforts.

"Peggy Lee Sings With BG" on Columbia's budget label is cut at different dynamic levels (different recording dates, no doubt) and although Peggy doesn't swing at this time of her career, she has behind her one of the great "swing" bands (in the true sense of the word) of all time. Although I'm not sure as to the recording date, it might be the great Goodman Band of circa 1937-38. This is a still straight — singing Peggy, who hasn't developed her throaty, warm and intimate, swinging personality we know today. The arrangements were too high for her and she has a weak lead trumpet of Harry James and the driving rhythm of Gene Krupa (surely the record can't be that old). Anyway, this whole bit is a far cry from Peggy's recent recording of "Fever" on Capitol which is spinning on a 45 of turn-tables these days.

The Bartok Concerto for Violin which has a tendency to be more popular and more easily accessible than some of the composer's more dissonant works, as recorded by Columbia on its Masterworks label and features the artistry of Isaac Stern, violinist, and Leonard Bernstein conducting the New York Philharmonic. The Concerto, which represents the return to tonality in the later years of Bartok's life, has the same biting forthrightness of the early Bartok and is played with crackling fingerboard articulation by Mr. Stern, whose affinity with the moderns has long been apparent in his concertizing. The polychromatic shading of his violin show off this brilliant and requiring concerto.

This music has notes that dance in wild Magyar rhythms upon your ear drums with a sprightly — spirited sprinkle of sounds which finally converge in more intense harmonies. The second movement ends as if a mysterious veil of shimmering, colored sound descends, sustained by a mood of suspense, hanging on a single pure-sounding tone. The last movement begins in a languidly lyric manner and wide with a Hungarian flourish. Pretty exciting music.

Knowing that the Roman Christians were living in the midst of one of the most wicked cities in the world and facing all kinds of temptation every day, Paul was careful to instruct them as to the way they should live in order to please God. He gave them some very good reasons for the faithful abstinance.

By advocating the use of liquor one encourages the destruction of others. Of course, there are many who will defend the use of alcoholic beverages, but there is not one reasonable or Christian defense to be made in their behalf. How tragic for anybody to fall into the liquor habit!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Dr. H. C. Chiles

JUSTICE AND THE ALCOHOL PROBLEM

It is doubtful if there has ever been a time when a temperance lesson was more sorely needed than today. The Scriptures selected for this study unmask liquor and reveal it for what it really is. From beginning to end they warn us against the sin of intemperance.

Liquor is one of the greatest curses of humanity. Very few evils, if any, have done more to blight human life than beverage alcohol. It has depleted more fortunes, wrecked more homes, blighted more lives and caused more heartaches than any other one evil. It has always debauched its users. It has been, is now and ever shall be a financial loss, a social blight and a political curse. Even though there are many who will contend for liquor, it has no defense. Nothing good can be said in its favor.

PROVERBS 23:29-35. — It is doubtful if a more graphic description of the evil effects of alcohol has ever been given than that in Proverbs 23. This passage portrays in a very impressive manner the miseries that are attached to the life of a drunkard. They are intense pain, bitter remorse, quarreling strife, complaining, wounds which might have been avoided and redness of eyes. Look about you at the users of intoxicants and see how true these words are.

Intoxicants have an injurious effect upon the physical well-being of their consumers. Their use makes people quick-tempered and quarrelsome. Many have committed deeds of violence while under the influence of liquor which they never would have done had they been sober. Think of the financial losses, the physical sufferings and the mental anguish caused by drunken drivers. The use of strong drink is even more disastrous in the moral realm than in the physical. Drunkenness breaks down the moral sensibilities to such an extent that people do things which, without liquor, they would never think of doing. If those who are tempted to drink could see the results thereof, they would not take the first sip. One can see those bitter drugs in the experience of myriads of others. Nobody ever used liquor who did not suffer from its effects.

Liquor robs one of health, character, wealth and livelihood. It destroys physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. It debauches and demoralizes. Under the influence of liquor the mind is filled with strange sights and the heart has unnatural desires. Waywardness is the inevitable effect of intoxicants. Drink often sets people free from the restrictions of decency. If you are wise, you will beware of the touch, the taste or the thrill of it. Wisdom simply demands total abstinance.

By advocating the use of liquor one encourages the destruction of others. Of course, there are many who will defend the use of alcoholic beverages, but there is not one reasonable or Christian defense to be made in their behalf. How tragic for anybody to fall into the liquor habit!
